DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election without traverse of Group V (claims 90-100) in the reply filed on 6/8/2007 is acknowledged.

Drawings

2. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the folded and glued seam, as well as the radio frequency identification tag must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 90-100 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Applicant has not sufficiently disclosed the folded and glued seam, in which the radio frequency identification tag is captured within. The structure of the folded and glued seam is not shown in Fig. 4 in relation to any other structures of the device. It is not known how the device is constructed. For purposes of examination, the folded and glued seam is construed to be any structure that can be considered a folded and glued seam on a storage container.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

6. Claims 90-100 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Brollier et al. (US 2004/0070504). Brollier et al. discloses a storage container capable of storing documents, comprising a die cut container blank (10a) folded and glued to form an enclosure capable of containing documents; the container having at least one folded and glued seam (between flaps 24a and 24b); and a radio frequency identification tag (12b) captured within the glued portion of the seam (See Fig. 3 embodiment).

Regarding claims 91-99, Brollier discloses a storage container capable of being considered a file folder, file box, carton, envelope, package, jacket or a pocket, as there is no corresponding structure claimed. The container of Brollier is capable of holding file folders and loose documents, since they are merely intended use and there is no specific structure corresponding its use. Further regarding claim 98, the storage container of Brollier is capable of being considered an x-ray jacket, as it is clearly capable of holding x-ray film.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

9. Claim 100 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brollier et al. (US 2004/0070504). Brollier discloses the claimed invention except for the printed identification information on the container. Official Notice is taken, that it is old and conventional to include printed information on the outer surface of a container.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made in view of the Official Notice to have provided the outer surface of the container of Brollier with printed information in order to advertise the contents of the container.

Conclusion

10. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Kerr et al. (US 2005/0110613), Anderson (US 2006/0249437) and Dickinson (US 2003/0052786).
